

Jesus healed many people, but what was he really teaching us?

by theadditionalneedsblogfather.com

Jesus is widely considered to have performed at least 37* miracles during his three-year ministry, from turning water into wine at the beginning to the second miraculous catch of fish towards the end. He also healed people, lots of people, with approximately two-thirds of his recorded miracles involving healing, and that doesn't include casting out evil spirits or raising from the dead.

So, healing people was important to Jesus, important enough for him to give two-thirds of his supernatural, miraculous, transforming energy to it. But time and time again he used the opportunity to heal someone as a practical way of teaching us something else. Something that is as equally relevant for us today as it was 2,000 years ago. Let's dig deeper then, let's go on a journey together with Jesus through some of the wonderful teaching that he shares with us through five of these astonishing healing miracles ...

As the Apostle, John, wrote... "Jesus did many other things as well. If every one of them were written down, I suppose that even the whole world would not have room for the books that would be written." John 21:25*

Alongside the notes below, watch the video of a talk given at Frinton Free Church that shares more about this teaching: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=0Y0uiY6H_oI